New scientific research has updated our current understanding of the resistance of horse parasites to the wormers available. Our advice has therefore changed on how best to utilise the wormers that we have available. We advise routine worm egg counts and targeted worming and not widespread unnecessary worming.

We recommend a six point plan:

1. A reduction in how often wormers are administered.
2. Faecal Worm Egg Counts (WEC) should be used four times a year in late February, early May, early August and early November to find out if worming is necessary.
3. Use 'Targeted Treatments' on horses that show a positive WEC.
4. If the Worm Egg Count is negative DO NOT administer a wormer.
5. Collect faeces off your paddocks – twice a week in the summer and once weekly in winter.
6. If you have sheep or cows mixed grazing is a good idea.
